

A PRAYER FOR MY WIFE

Lord, I pray...

That _____ will spend time with and delight in God every day. She will seek His kingdom and righteousness. She will release her faith to enjoy Him and receive ALL the blessings He has for her moving forward. She will rely on His strength and not hers, she will know His grace is enough for her. She will see Him as her strong tower, and that she, finally, will have a close, intimate, personal relationship with Him for all the rest of her days!

That _____ will work on her personal prayer life, and that God will strengthen that for her and build within her a deep hunger and desire to spend more time in prayer.

That _____ will realize how blessed she truly is, that she sees her riches in Him, and her eyes will be opened to a new vision of all God has done for her.

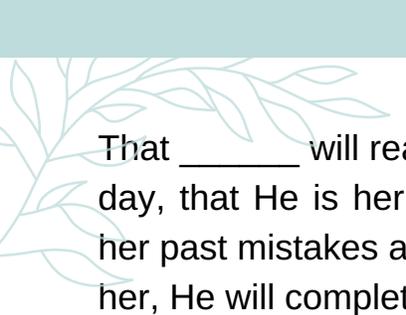

That _____ will believe in God in full. She will know that He is her rock, fortress and deliverer, and she will enter true rest.

That _____ will realize that she is in a spiritual battle every moment of the day. That she will put on the spiritual armor God has given her and use it, and that God is protecting her from Satan's attacks.

That _____ will fight the good fight of faith, allow God to fill her with His joy and peace, walk in His presence each and every day, experience the abundant joy that comes from being filled with His Holy Spirit, find contentment in Him, rest in Him. That she doesn't allow life's circumstances to take any and all of that away from her, and that she will not carry her own fears, worries and cares, but will place them all on God.

That _____ will walk in God's wisdom, receiving it each and every day, and not trust in her own thinking.

That _____ will continue to grow with me in our marriage, and that growth will be a daily thing the rest of our days.

That _____ will realize that God is always with her and she will sense Him with her every day, that He is her protection, security, safety, refuge and Savior. That He has forgiven her past mistakes and has remembered them no more, and the work that He has begun in her, He will complete.

That _____ will realize who she is in Christ, and that she won't identify first as things like an introvert. That she is God's masterpiece, and is wonderfully made and is His marvelous creation.

That _____ will want to work on our intimacy, and that by doing so through faith in God, we will have the best intimacy life we've ever had together - now and for the rest of our days.

That _____ will receive a supernatural move of God right now, releasing her from all the chains the enemy has placed upon her now and forever. Amen!

I believe this with all my heart - I will never love _____ more than when I pray for her. This is why I do it throughout the day - from the rising of the sun to the setting of the same. I want to see her healed of everything - her past, her physical ailments and her addictions and strongholds - now! And I love the Lord and _____ way too much to do anything to dishonor either, which is why I have my heart, mind and soul on both throughout each and every day!

Father, thank You for giving _____ to me! Thank You that she is a precious gift from You, and that when I found her, I found a good thing! I will be a soldier for You, Lord, for _____ and for our marriage until my dying breath! I pray against Satan's schemes for me, _____ and our marriage, and I pray for the Gospel to prevail for me, _____ and our marriage.

I release my faith, and lay _____ at Your feet, as I pray these prayers for her! In the precious name of Jesus, I pray! I don't care how long it takes - _____ IS going to be healed in full, and she IS going to enjoy God in full, and she IS going to live the full wonderful life that He has for her! Amen!

God, you are the True and Living God, the God of restoration and hope. You are the God of miracles! Nothing is impossible with You - everything is impossible without You! In the precious name of Jesus, I don't care what it looks like - I know that God is working NOW! Amen, and amen!
