

A PRAYER FOR MY HUSBAND

Lord, I pray...

That _____ will spend time with and delight in God every day, he will seek His kingdom and righteousness, he will release his faith to enjoy Him and receive ALL the blessings He has for him moving forward, he will rely on God's strength and not his own, he will know His grace is enough for him, he will see Him as his strong tower, and that he, finally, will have a close, intimate, personal relationship with Him for all the rest of his days!

That _____ will work on his personal prayer life, and that God will strengthen that for him and build within him a deep hunger and desire to spend more time in prayer.

That _____ will realize how blessed he truly is, that he sees his riches in Him, and his eyes will be opened to a new vision of all God has done for him.

That _____ will believe in God in full, he will know that God is his rock, fortress and deliverer, and he will enter true rest.

That _____ will realize that he is in a spiritual battle every moment of the day, that he will put on the spiritual armor God has given him and use it, and that God is protecting him from Satan's attacks.

That _____ will fight the good fight of faith, allow God to fill him with His joy and peace, walk in His presence each and every day, experience the abundant joy that comes from being filled with His Holy Spirit, find contentment in Him, rest in Him, that he doesn't allow life's circumstances to take any and all of that away from him, and that he will not carry his own fears, worries and cares, but will place them all on Him.

That _____ will walk in God's wisdom, receiving it every day, and not trust in his own thinking.

That _____ will realize that he can be healed of all of his maladies, his addictions, by believing in and asking God to release him from all of it!

That _____ will realize that God is always with him and he will sense His presence every day, that He is his protection, security, safety, refuge and Savior, that He has forgiven his past mistakes and has remembered them no more, and the work that God has begun in him, will be complete.

That _____ will realize who he is in Christ, and that he won't identify first as things like an introvert; that he is God's masterpiece, and is wonderfully made and is His marvelous creation.

That _____ will continue to grow with me in our marriage, and that growth will be a daily thing the rest of our days.

That _____ will want to work on our intimacy, and that by doing so through faith in God, we will have the best intimacy life we've ever had together - now and for the rest of our days.

That _____ will receive a supernatural move of God right now, releasing him from all the chains the enemy has placed upon him now and forever. Amen!

I believe this with all my heart - I will never love _____ more than when I pray for him. This is why I do it throughout the day - from the rising of the sun to the setting of the same. I want to see him healed of everything - his past, his physical ailments and his addictions and strongholds - now! I love the Lord and _____ way too much to do anything to dishonor either of them, which is why I have my heart, mind and soul on both throughout each and every day!

Father, thank You for giving _____ to me! Thank You that he is a precious gift from You, and that when I found him, I found a good thing! I will be a soldier for You, Lord, for _____ and for our marriage until my dying breath! I pray against Satan's schemes for me, _____ and our marriage, and I pray for the Gospel to prevail for me, _____ and our marriage.

I release my faith, and lay _____ at Your feet, as I pray these prayers for him! In the precious name of Jesus, I pray! I don't care how long it takes - _____ is going to be healed in full, and he IS going to enjoy God in full, and he IS going to live the full wonderful life that He has for him! Amen!

God, you are the True and Living God, the God of restoration and hope. You are the God of miracles! Nothing is impossible with You - everything is impossible without You! In the precious name of Jesus, I don't care what it looks like - I know that God is working NOW! Amen, and amen!
